

Robericano

On this page we tell you how a Robericano tournament works. We will help you with all the information you need to get started and organize a tournament with friends, colleagues or new acquaintances. This form of play can be used in all sports where you play doubles (2 against 2). For example, Tennis, Padel, Table Tennis, Beach Volleyball, Badminton, Pickleball, street basketball and more. Only the imagination sets the limits.

Robericano can be played with anywhere from 4 to 6 participants. As this is the first edition, there is currently only a schedule for 6 people. Updates are coming.

We start with a summary of the most important:

You participate in a Robericano tournament with 6 participants without co-players and each game round you follow a predetermined game schedule with one fellow player and two opponents. Everyone plays with everyone 2 times and you meet all players 5 times. Each match is decided when time runs out (scoring = 1 point per ball). Serves work just like in a tiebreak (Tennis). But you collect points as long as the game time has not ended. Each ball won for a team counts as one point to each teammate. The winner is the player who has the most points when the tournament ends as when the time is up and all matches are completed in the schedule.

You play 8 minutes of matches which is best, just right and means that the total playing time for the tournament will then be 2 hours. With 6 players you play 10 matches and pause 5.

The total playing time can be adjusted depending on how long you have booked the course or playing field. Robericano is always played on 1 court or playing field.

Robericano is a very popular and social form of competing and playing. Due to the fact that shorter intervals are played, there will be more energy for fast and tough duels.

Perfect for Afterwork or making new acquaintances or just have fun with friends.

Good event creator for arenas who wants to gather random players.